

Reading at home with your child

Some useful websites to visit at home...

www.oxfordowl.co.uk

This site is based around the reading scheme 'The Oxford Reading Tree'. It offers a large selection of books to share with your child online.

www.teachyourmonstertoread.co.uk

Lots of help here to develop skills for early readers. This site is desktop friendly.

www.jollylearning.co.uk

Here you will find reading resources based around the teaching of reading through a phonics based approach.

Here are some useful links to comprehension questions to help to develop children's understanding...

http://moodle.dbis.edu.hk/pluginfile.php/10622/mod_resource/content/1/Reading%20Comprehension%20Questions.pdf – this page directs you to a sheet of general questions to discuss about texts.

http://edhelper.com/language/Reading_Skills.htm - this link will give you access to a range of comprehension aids to support our more able readers.

On the following pages are the cards we are sending home to provide you with a bank of question ideas.
